

As Seen in Jazz Times, August 2007

Planet Waves Making Waves

Planet Waves just released a slew of hip new products for guitarists, including the Dare strap and the Humidipak.

The Dare strap centers the weight of your guitar or bass across both shoulders rather than just one, eliminating the back and neck pain caused by conventional single-shoulder straps. (At the same time, it's not as goofy looking as the cross-body harnesses of the past that aimed to correct uncomfortable straps.) Priced at $24.99, it's cheaper than a visit to the chiropractor.

The Humidipak is a two-way humidity system to be inserted inside an acoustic guitar's soundhole, helping the instrument to keep 45-percent optimum humidity. Developed with the Taylor Guitars camp, the Humidipak kits retail for $39.99.

planetwaves.com

